

Voiland's Half-Price Sale of Suits and Overcoats Began Monday Morning, Dec. 1

It will be for cash. It will also be the Biggest Event in the History of the Clothing Business of Topeka

We offer the unrestricted choice of NINE HUNDRED SIXTY MEN'S ALL-WOOL SUITS, bought during the fall and winter season of 1913, together with FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY OVERCOATS, at our usual sale price, namely,

One-Half the Marked Price

We have sold over three thousand suits and overcoats in three sales held previous to this time, beginning in the spring of 1912, and we venture the statement that there has not been ONE DISSATISFIED CUSTOMER. This is perhaps the last sale of this kind that will be held under similar circumstances. We KNOW that no store in Topeka ever attempted to do what we HAVE DONE in the past—and we are sure none will endeavor to match our present offer. In our entire offering there will be TWO EXCEPTIONS, namely, our 4790 serge, and Pearl Button serge, which we are under contract to maintain the price. Every other suit will be placed on sale as stated above—ONE-HALF MARKED PRICE.

Standard Makes Included

We offer you nothing but Standard-Made Clothing, including such brands as Collegian, Kuppenheimer, Sincerity and Michaels-Stern. These goods are not picked up here and there as remnants of old stocks, but WERE BOUGHT BY US IN THE REGULAR WAY—they are seasonable merchandise—not summer clothing—but Winter Wear.

Keep This In Mind

We cannot, at the prices we are offering clothing at this time, made alterations free of cost, as is our usual custom. The charges for alterations you may require will be nominal and made in our own shops on the premises. Every suit must be paid for at the time of purchase. We cannot "lay aside," or "hold" any suit. The plan of selling at such a price as we are offering these goods is for the purpose of DISPOSING OF THEM, and we cannot make any deviation from our plan as here outlined. You do not have to be a judge of merchandise to buy here. Our guarantee and our reputation for honest dealing for over THIRTY years is behind every purchase. You take no chance. Ask any man who patronized us in the past whether we are reliable and worthy of trust. Come early Monday morning. We open at 7:30 o'clock.

Your Time Is Limited

This sale will terminate when the Suits and Overcoats offered are disposed of. It may take ten days to do this. Please remember there will be NO Exchanges. We cannot afford to make more than one bite of a cherry. The personal guarantee of the owner of the store is on every purchase. There are no shoddy goods here. No fakes. Everything on the square and on top of the counter. The suit you buy is the suit you will get.

Spot Cash The Terms

Owing to the fact that we are making reduction in the price of our clothing that will bring us a substantial loss, we cannot during this sale charge any suit bought at the reduced price. For the suit business only, therefore, our charge accounts will be suspended. Do not ask us to break this rule, for it will be met with refusal, whether you be millionaire or laboring man. We shall play no favorites. If you have a charge account with us, it will be operative for anything in the store as usual, but it will not be possible to have a suit charged. It is hoped that all will understand this.

ALL STAR TEAMS

Coach Mosse Picks Players in Missouri Valley.

Gives Cornhuskers 6 Places, Kansas 3 and Missouri 2.

MANY GREAT PLAYERS DEVELOP

Large Field Causes Selections in Western Conference.

Yale Awarded Four Places on Eastern Eleven.

Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 1.—Coach Arthur B. Mosse of the University of Kansas, with the assistance of several followers of Missouri Valley football, has selected a mythical all-Missouri Valley football team. The Jayhawk coach and his assistants have limited their choice to players on conference teams and in their selection of an all-star eleven places are given to six Cornhusker athletes, three Jayhawkers and two Tigers. The following is the eleven chosen by Mosse and his associates:

Left end—Martin, Nebraska.
Left guard—Gallagher, Missouri.
Center—Keeling, Kansas.
Right guard—James, Kansas.
Right tackle—Halligan, Nebraska.
Right end—Speelman, Missouri.
Quarterback—Towle, Nebraska.
Left halfback—Rutherford, Nebraska.
Fullback—Howard, Nebraska.

All-Eastern Eleven.—Although the football season of 1913 ended officially with the playing of the Army-Navy game here Saturday, the leading coaches, players and authorities sustain gridiron interest during the early days of December by selecting all-American and all-sectional teams. Many of the coaches follow every action of pupil and opponent during the entire season, with the idea of an "all" team always in mind, and the first fruits of their observations are already available.

While several of the leading gridiron instructors and authorities are still ruing over the problem, the majority having confined their choice to eastern combinations, the all-eastern by early consensus of opinion appears to be as follows:

Left end—Hogsett, Dartmouth.
Left guard—Ketcham, Yale.
Center—Martin, Yale.
Right guard—Pennock, Harvard.
Right tackle—Ballin, Princeton.
Right end—Gilchrist, Navy.
Quarterback—Wilson, Yale.
Left halfback—Mahan, Harvard.
Right halfback—Guyon, Carlisle.
Fullback—Brickley, Harvard.

The All-Western Team.—In the western football territory, which includes Ohio State on the east, and the University of Nebraska on the other end, the consensus of opinion is that the section named has developed this fall some of the greatest players it has ever known. So many were the stars that a great variety of selections are being made by various experts. An approach to unanimity is found in the makeup of the back field. Critics generally award Eichenlaub, the Notre Dame fullback, his position. There is hardly a dissenting voice as to him. Craig of Michigan and Norgreen of Chicago were given the halfback places and though keener rivalry was felt for the quarterback position, the ability of Dorais of Notre Dame, to run the team and his expertness as a drop kicker seem to make him the favorite. Solon of Minnesota is given one end almost unanimously. His experience and ability were considered as making him excel all other wing men in the central states, though Rockney, the Notre Dame captain, was pronounced nearly as good. Miller and Henning of the Michigan Aggies and Cherry of Ohio State were rivals with Huntington of Chicago, the last named for his clever work in the Wisconsin game.

Butler, Wisconsin's "all-American" tackle, is generally selected for tackle on the all-western, but there is a wide difference among the critics as to his running mate. Brown of South Dakota was considered available by some, but others wavered between Pontius or Kirk of Iowa. Gallagher of Missouri. Allmendinger of Michigan and Keeler of Wisconsin have earned prominent positions as guards. Others mentioned are Gallagher of Missouri, Harris of Chicago, Routh of the Geismans of Ohio State and Leonardson of the Michigan Aggies. Des Jardien, the Chicago center, is apparently considered by most experts the best man playing the position. Since the days when Schultz starred at Ann Arbor it is stated there has been no center of Des Jardien's caliber. Des Jardien's capacity for hard work in the line, his ability to cover ground and tackle on the open field and his good work put him in a class by himself. Other pivot men who gain mention are Glossop of Purdue, Paterson of Michigan, Houghton of Iowa, Feeney of Notre Dame and Robertson of Minnesota.

The all-western eleven, therefore, would reach about as follows:

Ends—Solon, Minnesota, and Rockney, Notre Dame; tackles, Butler, Wisconsin, and Brown, South Dakota; guards, Allmendinger, Michigan, and Keeler, Wisconsin; center, Des Jardien; quarterback, Dorais, Notre Dame; halfbacks, Craig, Michigan, and Norgreen, Chicago; fullback, Eichenlaub, Notre Dame.

SWEENEY TO MANAGE REDS.

President Gaffney of Boston Nationals Is Willing.
Boston, Dec. 1.—Captain Sweeney of the Boston Nationals announced Saturday that he would make no effort to obtain an appointment as manager of the Cincinnati club. He has left the matter in the hands of President J. J. Gaffney of the Boston club. In a letter to President Gaffney, who is in New York, he said:

"Whatever arrangements you make will be perfectly satisfactory to me." Gaffney notified Sweeney that he was free to negotiate for the position.

"Does Crowder do anything towards making his home happy?" "What?" "Keeps away from it."—Washington Star.

FANS FOR JOE TINKER.

Reported That 10,000 Will Stay Away Because of His Release.

Cincinnati, Dec. 1.—Cincinnati baseball "bugs," about ten thousand strong, are not pleased with the way Garry Herrmann & Co. treated Joe Tinker, who led the Red Legs in the recent National League race. The Cincinnati club couldn't come to terms with Tinker, and gave him his release as manager of the team last week. Now when the season opens next April, Mr. Herrmann probably will find the turnstiles not working as smoothly as in 1913. Tinker who has returned to his home in Kansas City with his family to visit relatives, has a letter from a Cincinnati man, in which it is stated that ten thousand followers of the national game will sign a petition not to attend a game in Cincinnati next year. Cincinnati liked Joe Tinker, and the bugs are asking him to return. The veteran shortstop did not set the National League on fire with Cincinnati victories last season, but looking over the records we find that former leaders of the Reds did not accomplish any better results than Tinker. Cincinnati baseball followers were willing to give Tinker another chance because he is known in both major leagues as a hustler, who knows the game from A to Z.

There is one thing settled and that is that Tinker will not play as a shortstop under another Cincinnati manager next season. Johnny Evers, leader of the Cubs, is eager to get Joe back in a Chicago uniform and will try to arrange a deal for the player who used to help complete the "Tinker to Evers to Chance" play in the good old Cub winning days. Tinker would like to play in Chicago again because his business is there.

DAUBERT LED ALL.

Western First Baseman Champion Batter in National League.

New York, Dec. 1.—Jake Daubert, Brooklyn's star first baseman, is the National League's champion batsman for the season of 1913. The official batting averages of the league made public show him third in the list, with an average of .350 in 139 games. Of the two men nominally outranking him, however, one, Yingling, of Brooklyn, is a pitcher and took part in but forty games, while the other is Charles McDonald of Boston, who played in but twenty half the season's games, is no longer a major leaguer, having been released to the International League season. Yingling, the top man, batted .355 and McDonald .355.

Cravath of Philadelphia is second among the regulars who played in one hundred or more games, batting .341 and he also led the league in home runs, with 19 to his credit. His teammate, Luderus, was a close second in home runs, making 18 hits for the circuit. In stolen bases, Max Carey of Pittsburgh is the leader, with 61. Eddie Zimmerman of Chicago, who led the league in batting last year, with an average of .372, is fourteenth on this year's list, with a mark of .313. The champion Giants got but one regular, Meyer, with 312, in the selected 300, although Arthur Fletcher was close to the mark, with .297. The veteran, Honus Wagner, put to his credit the record of having gone through 17 consecutive seasons with a mark of .300 or better, just making the even 300 this year.

Of the player managers, Tinker of Cincinnati leads with .317, standing eleventh on the league list, the others being Evers of Chicago, fortieth, with .285; Huggins of St. Louis, forty-first, with the same mark, and Doolin of Philadelphia, with .256. The New Yorks lead in club batting, with .273, St. Louis being last, with .247.

TO HEAR NEBRASKA.

Cornhuskers Want Place in Western Conference.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The University of Nebraska's application for admission to the Chicago Tribune was acted upon at a meeting of "Big Nine" authorities here next Saturday. Representatives of the conference colleges were generally reticent regarding the probable action in the case, but opposition to the enlargement of the organization, on the ground that it is unwieldy, is known to exist now, and was presented as a formidable argument when the addition of Nebraska and Michigan were informally discussed at the meeting at Madison last spring. Geographically, it was argued then, Nebraska is an athlete rival to Iowa and Minnesota, but hardly of Ohio state. Some followers of conference football predict a division not based on geographical lines, and a realignment of the schools in the central states.

Coach Stehm, of Nebraska, who represented his college here, will try in any event to procure athletic dates with conference teams, and agreed to entertain the Minnesota track squad in a dual meet at Lincoln May 23.

The re-engagement of John Mahan as track coach at Purdue has been announced.

PICKS ALL-STAR TEAMS.

Nebraska and Missouri Given Places by Eckersall.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Walter Eckersall in the Chicago Tribune has announced the following "All western eleven, including both conference and outside teams:

First team—Center, Des Jardien, Chicago; guards, Allmendinger, Michigan; Leonardson, Michigan Aggies; Tackles, Halligan, Nebraska; Butler, Wisconsin; Ends, Rockney, Notre Dame; Solon, Minnesota. Quarter, Dorais, Notre Dame. Halfbacks, Norgreen, Chicago (captain); Craig, Michigan. Fullback, Eichenlaub, Notre Dame.

Second team—Center, Feeney, Notre Dame. Guards, Gallagher, Missouri; Keeler, Wisconsin. Tackles, Pontius, Michigan; Gifford, Michigan Aggies. Ends, Huntington, Chicago; Henning, Michigan Aggies. Quarter, Russell, Chicago. Halfbacks, Rutherford, Nebraska; Pliska, Notre Dame. Fullbacks, Julian, Michigan Aggies.

Letters for 12 High School Players. Twelve players on the Topeka high school football team will receive letters this fall. They are Glass, Kaufman, Shannon, Wolf, Wilson, Callahan, Johnson, Hoatson, Wilmoth, Kennedy, Sargent and Captain Willard. Nettles and Dickerson, two other players, would have received letters if they had not sustained injuries in the middle of the season.

Next year the team will be without Willard, Glass, Wilson, Callahan, Johnson, "Warhorse" Hoatson and others. However, there was a promising bunch of substitutes this year and husky high school youths played on other teams who will be out for the regular eleven next season. While Topeka lost the Missouri Valley championship to Lawrence this year, the team was a good one and only lost two games. Two men are being talked of for captain for the 1914 team, Sargent, the crack quarterback, and Nettles, tackle. Elmer Stahl, former Aggie player, coached the team this fall.

THAT NORTON MEETING

It Was Fine Success for Good Roads Cause.

Norton, Dec. 1.—The good roads movement received a good boost Saturday in Norton at the meeting of the Rock Island Highway association. Delegates were present from almost every county from St. Joe, Mo., to Colorado Springs and Denver. An enthusiastic meeting was had at the auditorium during the afternoon.

The program previously arranged and published in the Journal some days ago was well carried out. After an address of welcome by Mayor N. L. Johnson and response by Dr. C. W. Cole, president of the Rock Island Highway association, addresses were made by Frank Stinson of Phillipsburg, A. O. Miller of Belleville, Clarence B. Jordan, secretary Kansas Auto association; W. S. Gearhart, state engineer, and Governor Geo. H. Hodges, who advocated the building of good roads for the purpose of having better country, being in favor of the centralized country graded schools.

A movement is on foot to promote the Red Star highway from the Lincoln Memorial highway at Lexington, Neb., thence south through Norton to connect with the Santa Fe Trail at Dodge City, Kan.

A delegation from Lexington was present at the meeting and addresses were made by Niles E. Olson and F. M. Temple.

An entertaining address was given by A. W. Henderson, secretary Commercial club of Colorado Springs; also by Judge J. W. Deane and J. K. Raraze of Aspen, Colo., who are interested in promoting the extension of this highway from Colorado Springs to Salt Lake City, to be called the Independent Pike Peak's highway over the Rockies, through Marshall's Pass. The meeting was well attended, a great many farmers being present. Fully six hundred were present.

A fine banquet was served in Auditorium hall at 7 p. m. Plates were laid for 150.

A colloquy of logic and wit followed during the evening and not a dry speech among the lot. It could hardly be otherwise with a witty toastmaster as R. W. Hemphill proved himself to be.

Short talks by Gov. Hodges, C. B. Jordan, Judge Deane, W. H. Nelson, W. E. Gearhart, N. E. Olson, F. M. Temple and W. S. Langmade from out of town and Judge Drummond, L. H. Wilder, C. A. Hamilton, L. H. Thompson, Dr. C. E. Kenny of Norton. The success of this meeting was largely due to the Norton Good Roads club, with W. J. Gray as president, and the Norton Commercial club. Many of the delegates were shown some of the work done and pronounced it the best of any county along the Rock Island highway, and Norton people the best of entertainers.

ALL WANT ESTATE

Two Families of Kansas Pioneer Object to Division.

Aged Man Died Without Settling All Affairs of Property.

Enterprise, Dec. 1.—When Augustus Packard came here in the early 50's he fought Indians; now his heirs quarrel through the courts for possession of the estate. Plainsman and pioneer, Augustus Packard, who died only recently, 82 years old, settled in the Smoky Hill valley and picked out 500 of the richest acres of bottom land in the state. Following the appointment of an administrator of the estate began a search for hidden treasure that some of the heirs insisted was somewhere on those broad acres. Packard had many peculiarities, and, all told, much money, combined with a distrust of banks and bankers.

All hunts for gold have not availed. But there is much hidden gold in these acres of bottom land, and it is for this that the heirs quarrel.

Augustus Packard was one of the first white men to homestead a farm here, and he stayed all through the time when Kansas was "bleeding." He was a freighter between Fort Leavenworth and Fort Hays and even got as far south as Fort Worth, Texas. He won fame as an Indian fighter. When the first territorial legislature of Kansas was called, he went as a delegate. Later on, when the question of Kansas free or slave arose, he joined the home guards and fought loyally for the cause of abolition. When Dickinson was organized, he was the first county clerk.

Meanwhile, Packard had picked out a stretch of fine looking land in a bend of the Smoky Hill river, cleared it, and came here to live. He won for a bride pretty and talented Alice B. Tuton, who came away out here from Baltimore, Md., home. To this union four children, Anita, Helen, Alice and Augustus F., were born. But Packard and his wife became estranged, and were divorced, the husband giving Mrs. Packard a fine tract of land.

Later, he married Mrs. Sarah Matt and to this marriage four children were born. They are: Clarence, Elmer and Pearl. From this wife also he had a daughter, and to her he gave land, and to the children also. Now here is where the row started; the children of the first marriage demand that land given children of the second union be charged against the owners in the division of the estate. The legal tangle is only another interesting thing in one of the most unique family histories that Kansas has known.

Packard was a man of many peculiarities. Living in a one room log cabin, built with his own hands and probably the oldest cabin in the state, the family must have found it rather crowded in the winter months. A hard worker, his lands made good crops year after year, and Packard saved his profits. Spending little, he kept much money hidden about the place.

He distrusted banks and bankers, and was known to hide a roll of currency in a corn crib rather than trust to a bank book. It was this that gave rise to the belief that he left hidden treasure buried under the soil around the house. Although all searches have produced no treasure, they have brought to light some interesting things.

When the floods of 1901 came, they swept Packard out of the cabin by Turpin lake, and he went up to his son Clarence's home, where he lived until his death.

TO KILL WICHITA BUFFALO.

Col. William Mathewson Will Shoot Animal—Recall Early Days.

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 1.—Col. Wm. Mathewson, the original "Buffalo Bill," has consented to shoot Christmas the buffalo bull, Beacon, an attraction in Riverside Park here, which has outlived its usefulness. The animal's meat will be sold at $1 a pound for Christmas dinners and the money turned into the city's park fund. Beacon weighs 1,500 pounds.

Colonel Mathewson gained his title of "Buffalo Bill" in the late '60s by killing buffalo for needy Kansas families near Great Bend when he was in charge of a trading post there. Now he is more than 80 years old and a wealthy citizen of Wichita. Recently he went through a severe illness but is strong enough to use a rifle. The proceeds of the 1,500 pounds of Beacon will be used to buy three young buffaloes for Riverside Park.

GUILE LEFT FORTUNE.

Parsons Music Teacher Names City as Beneficiary.

Parsons, Kan., Dec. 1.—Prof. A. J. Guile, the well known piano teacher, who died here last week, left his private library, several pieces of statuary and $1,000 in money to the Parsons public library.

His will disposes of property estimated to be worth $50,000, yet few people knew that he was possessed of such independent fortune. His studio here was perhaps the finest private studio in the state.

S. S. WORKERS AT ABILENE.

Ralph McIntire of Topeka Has Prominent Part.

Abilene, Dec. 1.—The Dickinson county Sunday school convention, now in session here, is being attended by 100 Sunday school workers from over the county. Ralph McIntire of Topeka is taking a prominent part in the program of the two-day session. Sixty superintendents and Abilene business men sat down to supper together, a compliment to the visitors from the business men.

BILL SAFF SELLS PAPER.

A. S. McNay Buys Democratic Daily—Takes Immediate Charge.

Galena, Kan., Dec. 1.—A. S. McNay, owner of the Galena Weekly Republican, has closed a deal for the purchase of the Galena Evening Times and will take over the property on December 1. McNay will continue the Times as a Democratic daily. The purchase was made from William F. Sapp, Democratic national committeeman from Kansas.

WHITE SLAYER SENTENCED.

Confessed Crime—Wanted in Five Counties.

Emporia, Kan., Dec. 1.—John McGinnis, who confessed to a charge in transporting his wife over the state for immoral purposes, of white slavery and who was wanted in five counties on similar charges, was sentenced by Judge W. C. Harris in the district court, to from one to five years in the Kansas penitentiary.
